Keep Learning Separate from Play Time

Have designated times for swim practice (just 15-20 minutes) that are separate from regular pool recreation.

Be Patient & Reassuring

New experiences can be frightening for any child.

Start Early & Practice Often

Children can begin learning to swim as early as age 1 to adjust to the water and learn safe boundaries.

Practice the Basics

Proper breathing, kicking and strokes are key elements of swimming.

The Right Tools Can Make a Difference

Certified learn-to-swim equipment can help swimmers learn to be safe in the water and feel confident with adult supervision.

Learning how to swim can reduce the risk of drowning by 88% among children 1-4 years old.
